PREACHING AND PRACTICE

Our contemporary estimates that there are 19,000,000 of homeless people living east of the Mississippi and that it is the duty of our people to take steps to locate these people in Nevada and the West where they can secure homes and become happy and prosperous. It tells us:

The movement to colonize the surplus population of the East has already begun. The railroads are working to secure this valuable traffic necessary to the increase of their business and the development of the resources of the country along their lines. Low rates are offered to view the arable and arid lands of the West, and there is nothing now to do but to give individual and collective attention to the work of making Nevada a State containing a population of 1,000,000 souls within the next five years.

The above is probably from the pen of the local land agent of the Central Pacific Company in Nevada. The preaching is good, but the practice of the land agent does not accord with it. As the public understand, the railroad company's land grant covers alternate sections of land for twenty miles on each side of the track through the State of Nevada. In many places within this grant settlers, some of whom were on the lands before the railroad was built and some of whom purchased lands of the railroad and from the Government, have made the lands valuable by building irrigating ditches and making farms. This is especially true of the country in the vicinity of Lovelock.

The soil is rich and productive and enterprising men have undertaken to bring several more sections of land under cultivation by means of an irrigating ditch several miles long. Lands held by the railroad company along this ditch have been appraised by the local land agent at from $15 to $18 an acre. Settlers offer to purchase those lands at from $5 to $8 an acre, but the company, doubtless acting under the advice of its local land agent, will not dispose of them at less than the agent's valuation. The company has been at no expense in improving them, but it takes advantage of the enterprise and outlay of others and places a price on them that no one feels justified in paying with wheat at 75 cents and less per cental. If that is the way the railroad is working to colonize the State and invite immigration the 19,000,000 homeless people east of the Mississippi will remain homeless, or at least will not find homes on railroad lands in Nevada.

Now, if our contemporary is sincere in what it says let it exercise its persuasive and argumentative powers on the local land agent of the Central Pacific Company and endeavor to get him to lower the valuation of lands within the railroad land grant. Let it also show the railroad company that it cannot expect people to seek homes in Nevada when they know that freight charges from the East to Nevada are about three times what they are to Sacramento, 154 miles further west, and over the big mountains. The railroad should be encouraged to deal with Nevada more liberally than it has heretofore, and thus induce immigration to the State. As President Huntington and the Board of Directors know nothing about the value of railroad lands in the State, except through the local agent, our contemporary should begin right at home by prevailing upon him to place a lower valuation on railroad lands, and also to use his influence with the company to charge no more for freight from the East to Nevada than it does to Sacramento. It may accomplish in that manner much more than the Board of Trade did with an expenditure of several thousand dollars.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

Congressman Bryan of Nebraska is one of the men who, while favoring free coinage, thought it could be accomplished within the old party lines, and therefore remained with his party during the greater part of the last Congress. He finally came to the conclusion that the old party organizations were controlled by the gold trust, and he decided to part company with Cleveland Democracy and support the American Bimetallist party, which is unequivocally in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver. In an open letter to President Cleveland Mr. Bryan asks the autocrat of the White House some very pertinent questions. He wants to know what Mr. Cleveland means by "sound money," "safe currency" and "sound and prudent financial ideas." As everybody favors sound money and safe currency, a plain statement of what is meant by those euphonic and universally admired phrases might dispel the war clouds and make a line of battle unnecessary.

Mr. Bryan wants to know of Mr. Cleveland if by "sound money" he means a gold standard, and if so, why he avoided the word "gold" in his letter? and if by "a safe currency" he meant bimetallism? Why he did not use the word "bimetallism" in his letter? He tells the President that his opponents favor the free and unlimited coinage of gold bullion into dollars of 25.8 grains of standard gold, and asks if he is in favor of this? He also informs him that his opponents are in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver bullion into dollars each containing 412½ grains of standard silver, and asks if he is in favor of this? If not, is he in favor of the coinage of silver bullion into dollars of any size? Mr. Bryan desires to know if the failure of the gold standard advocates to define their purposes and defend their financial system is due to a lack of knowledge of the subject, or to an unwillingness to let people know what they intend? He asks the President, if the proprietors of his official place oblige him to forego the enjoyment of writing another letter explaining his last one and defining his position on the financial question, to please designate some one who has authority to speak for him, so that the people may be afforded an intelligent opportunity, as he suggests, to study and decide this paramount public question.

It is not at all probable that Mr. Cleveland will explain what he means by "sound money" and "safe currency." He will screen himself behind his official place, from which he emerges only when called upon by the gold men to issue manifestos against silver. The Republican and Democratic press of the East, with very few exceptions, lend these manifestos, and the official press clipper at the White House permits only such papers as contain these landitions to reach the President.

DURRANT CONFIDENT.

Senator Mitchell of Oregon on the Situation.

PEACEFUL AT HONOLULU.

Russia and Japan Liable to Have a Fight Over the Treaty.

THE DURRANT CASE.

The Lawyers Hoping That a Jury Will Not Convict Him.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—Theodore Durrant passed a good night and this morning ate a hearty breakfast, and was in a happy mood when, shortly after 9 o'clock, visitors began to arrive. To these he talked cheerfully, and from his conversation it would seem he had no fear of being convicted for the horrible crime which the Governor's jury says he committed. Many of his visitors were physicians, who seem to take more than ordinary interest in the young man, and who, without exception, say he is a most remarkable man from any standpoint.

This morning almost a score of Durrant's fellow-students from the Medical College called to see him, but Durrant turned them back on the ground that he had nothing to do with them.

The police have little hope of discovering any of the much talked-of "bloody clothes" worn by the murderer, as expert testimony makes it plain that Marian Williams was butchered after death, or, at most, just before her heart ceased to beat, and under these conditions a man with Durrant's knowledge of surgery could have easily had finished his work without so much as a drop of blood getting on his clothes.

Judging by the manner in which the attorneys for the defendant are proceeding, it would seem that they rest more hope on the inability to secure a jury that would convict Durrant than on anything else.

Eugene Duprey called on Judge Conlon this morning regarding the preliminary examination, which is to commence Monday at 11 o'clock. Judge Conlon issued orders for summoning of all witnesses in the case for that date.

FROM HONOLULU.

All Quiet on the Islands.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—The steamer Australia arrived this morning with Hawaiian advice to April 13th. Minister Thurston returned from Washington on the morning of the 7th. The American Minister received no notification of his recall; at least he has not intimated so to the Government. Minister Hatch defends Thurston's course while in Washington, and says that Thurston had a right to tell all he knew about local affairs.

V. V. Ashford has been pardoned on condition that he leave the country never to return.

The ex-Queen is still confined to the palace, and seems contented. She is allowed to exercise on the grounds in the evening.

Samuel Damon has returned from California. He went there on private business, not to dispose of Hawaiian Government bonds, as has been stated. Russia Displeased With the Terms of Peace.

St. Petersburg, April 20.—The newspapers here are unanimous in disapproving the conditions of peace between China and Japan. They are opposed to the Japanese acquiring territory on the mainland of China. The Norve Fremde declares Russia cannot tolerate a cession of territory north of the Gulf of Pechili, and says emphatically that Russia cannot allow Japan to acquire the Liaotung peninsula. The newspaper then urges prompt action upon the part of Russia.

Another Wife Murderer.

STOCKTON, April 20.—Joseph Robert, owner of the Bowery Bar distillery in Calaveras county, shot and killed his wife to-day. He was crazed by drink and the loss of $1,000, which he had been buncoed out of by greengrocers. His wife was bringing him his lunch when he shot her.

Mrs. Scholtz Sang a Tragic Matrimonial Relations. SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—Annie Scholtz has filed an unusual answer to a cross-complaint of her husband's for a divorce. She states that she was the wife of a man named Samuel Vogt on Thanksgiving Day, 1888. On that day he struck her with a club, and she was so severely injured that she was obliged to lie in bed nearly a year. After her recovery she learned that Vogt had been taken to a hospital suffering from delirium tremens and that he had died. She made an investigation and corroborated the report of her husband's death. Believing she was a widow, she married Conrad Scholtz and lived with him for several years.

About a year ago the relations between Mr. and Mrs. Scholtz became unpleasant and she recently applied for a divorce. Her husband answered with a cross-complaint and she has filed her answer. She declares that she has never been the legal wife of Conrad Scholtz, as she is still the wife of Samuel Vogt. Three months ago she was informed that her first husband did not die in the hospital, but is still alive. She made inquiries and was soon convinced that she had never been a widow. Samuel Vogt is at present living in the East and his wife has absolute proof of the fact. On this showing Mrs. Vogt asks the Court to declare that she has never really been Mrs. Scholtz and that no divorce is necessary.

SENATOR MITCHELL'S VIEWS.

If the Old Parties Adhere to Gold the New Party Will Sweep the Country.

NEW YORK, April 20.—Senator John Mitchell of Oregon is at the Marlborough Hotel. He said: "I am afraid the Democratic party will make concessions to the silver men in the platform to be adopted at the next National Convention. If it does, despite all past mistakes, it will sweep the country. If neither party gives silver the recognition it deserves, a new party will spring up that will sweep the country like wild fire."

"I think one result of the Denver conference will be to make the Republican party realize fully the gravity of the situation and it may lead to its adopting a more liberal policy toward silver at the next Republican National Convention."

A Petition to Have Side Entrances to Churches Closed.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—The petition of Robert Briesse, a saloon keeper who wanted the side entrances to all the churches closed and lounges removed from the churches and ministers to be licensed, came up before the Board of Supervisors to-day. Briesse was present with an attorney to urge the passage of an ordinance carrying out his recommendations. The Supervisors were inclined to look upon the matter as a joke, but Briesse was serious. The recent horror in the Emmanuel Church inspired Briesse to make his remarkable petition, but the Supervisors did not see the matter in the same light and lectured the saloon keeper for his temerity in making such a proposition. The petition was referred to the waste basket.

Mrs. Parnell's Condition.

BONHENTOWN, N. J., April 20.—Mrs. Parnell, the mother of the late Charles Stewart Parnell, who was assaulted and robbed, is unable to converse intelligently. Her condition is critical. Physicians fear the most injury is at the base of the brain. The skull is not fractured and it seems almost a miracle, as the blow was a terrible one. There is no clue to the assailant.

Tragedy at a Dance.

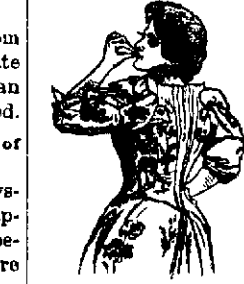

PORTLAND, Ind., April 20.—At a dance in Oondoo, twelve miles from here, last night Harry Black became offended because Freda Lake accompanied another man to the ball. He threatened to kill the woman. Otto Hazenhus attempted to settle the quarrel, and was fatally shot by Black, who then killed the girl and himself.

A Deceptive Cyclone.

MOBILE, April 20.—Captain J. D. Vick of the Alabama river steamer, brings news of a cyclone that passed over Mattie's Landing, 220 miles north of Mobile, leveling twenty dwellings. The plantation of J. G. Henderson is a complete wreck, eight buildings being destroyed. Three persons are said to have been lost.

"For Years,"

Says CARLIE E. STOCKWELL, of Chesterfield, N. H., "I was afflicted with an extremely severe pain in the lower part of the chest. The feeling was as if a ten weight was laid on a spot the size of my hand. During the attacks, the perspiration would stand in drops on my face, and it was agony for me to make sufficient effort even to whisper. They came suddenly, at any hour of the day or night, lasting from thirty minutes to half a day, leaving as suddenly; but, for several days after, I was quite prostrated and sore. Sometimes the attacks were almost daily, then less frequent. After about four years of this suffering, I was taken down with bilious typhoid fever, and when I began to recover, I had the worst attack of my old trouble I ever experienced. At the first of the fever, my mother gave me Ayer's Pills, my doctor recommending them as being better than anything he could prepare. I continued taking these Pills, and so great was the benefit derived that during nearly thirty years I have had but one attack of my former trouble, which yielded readily to the same remedy."

Bullion Still Looking Out for San Francisco; $1,000,000 to be Sent There—The Jones Examination—Basis of the Shortage Figures—What Some Little Boys Found—Why the Examination Doors Will be Closed.

(Correspondence of the JOURNAL.)
CARSON, ORY, April 20, 1895.

Another heavy shipment of unparted gold bullion amounting to $78,000 was made from the Carson mint this evening to the San Francisco mint. These shipments will be continued only to the extent of $1,000,000 at present, or until further orders are received from Washington. A special dispatch received last evening officially confirms the statement that this mint is to be abandoned. This is a terrible blow to Carson. But she has stood it before and can do so again. The probabilities are that the remaining $8,000,000 will be principally shipped east.

Meanwhile full preparations are being made for the examination of ex-Assistant Minter and Refiner Jones next Tuesday before U. S. Commissioner Edwards, and H. H. Beck of Reno and others have been requested to appear on behalf of the defendant, who has a powerful array of counsel and proposes making as square and forcible a fight as possible. Detective Harris, the prosecuting witness, has not returned yet, but will be on hand, whether he brings Heney or not.

What basis of figuring of the shortage will be brought before the court is not made public as yet, but Inspector Mason most probably found it in the bars of bullion, where silver had been surreptitiously substituted for gold. The stamped weight on the bars was all right, but the value fell far short. The amount of granulations stolen will not form as high an amount in the shortage as the bars.

But it is a well known fact that the rich golden granulations have been stolen from the mint in years past, as easily as could have been done later on. Fourteen years ago two little boys playing near the barn of Sloum, an employe in the melting and refining department, found a small yeast powder can concealed, which contained what they thought was the heaviest and prettiest bright yellow sand they ever saw. They played with it a while and then divided it between them and took it to their respective homes. Their parents consulted together and finally sold it all at Virginia City. It amounted to about $300, yet it never came in any item of mint shortage at the time, as the amount of coin in the aggregate of minted bullion came within the allowed percentage limit.

The reasons assigned for holding the coming examination with closed doors, excluding the reporters and general public, is that the whole mint investigation has been conducted privately, as in all other such matters of the Government, and this is merely a continuance part of the investigation. Both sides desire it as giving a better chance for a fair result than if the public and the newspapers all had a wrangling hand in it.

Mrs. Fisher, who is sworn in as the official stenographer, will have the whole secret, and she is the envy of all the ladies as well as of the reporters. One of the best looking of the reporters was seen talking secretly with her last evening in front of the postoffice, no doubt trying to persuade her to furnish him with a brief synopsis of the daily progress of the examination.

ALF DOTEN.

TO CLOSE THE MINT.

It Has Been So Decided at Washington.

Superintendent Daggett of the San Francisco mint has been officially informed that the mint at Carson is to be abandoned. The Government, it appears, has so decided. Commenting on this the Dayton Times says:

The mint will probably be closed, perhaps removed from Carson, and the ones who are responsible for such action should be sent to the State Prison for life. A thieving gang which will loot a U. S. mint and ruin the name of a community, is not fit to inhabit a civilized country and should be run out of the State. And when it is found out who the guilty parties really are, the public wants to know it; we don't want any guess work about it.

Comstock Miners for Mexico.

Thirteen miners arrived on the V. & T. last evening en route to San Dimas Durango, Mexico, where they go on a contract to run a tunnel for the Candalaria Mining Company there. They go by steamer from San Francisco to Mazatlan, then 160 miles inland. They are guaranteed employment for twelve months at least and a prospect of work for a longer time. The following are the names of those who compose the party: Wm. Tredinnick, Mark Tredinnick, John Mann, Wm. J. Jennings, Johnny Spargo, Harry Rowe, E. Lawden, Wm. Pooley, Henry Hatherill, Thomas Launoy, Steve Carnow, Dave Prout and John Cameron. The men are all old miners, most of whom have lived on the Comstock for over twenty years, and while expressing great regret at having to leave Nevada for a foreign country, they say that owing to the low price of silver, which necessarily closes many of the mines, they are compelled to seek employment elsewhere.

A Suspicious Circumstance.

Three men were on Peavine mountain yesterday prospecting. They left a well filled dinner bucket at the wagon in which they rode. While at some distance from the wagon they saw a horseman come down the mountain, stop at the wagon, and afterwards ride back into the mountain. He took the bucket and its contents and they suspected from his actions that he might be the train robber for whose capture a large reward is offered.

THE RISE IN THE PRICE OF BEEF.

Why the Agricultural Department Has Raised the Embargo on Mexican Cattle.

The officials at the Department of Agriculture continue their investigation into the recent big rise in the price of beef. The action of the department in raising the embargo on Mexican cattle is expected to have the effect of keeping the price of beef from going up higher even if it does not cause a decline. Dr. Salmon, chief of the bureau of animal industry, says there was an undoubted scarcity of cattle in the West, sufficient to account in part for the increased price in dressed meats.

"The only question," said he, is whether this scarcity is sufficient to account for it altogether, or whether the few big men who control the beef market have not, to a certain extent at least, anticipated the effect of this scarcity; in other words, whether the effect has not come before the cause. What we are anxious to know is whether the price of cattle has gone up in proportion to the price of beef. It is not an easy matter to settle, and our agents are meeting some difficulty in getting at the facts in the matter, but their reports are beginning to come in.

"For some time past," continued Dr. Salmon, "cattle have been getting scarcer and scarcer in the West and especially in the Southwest. The condition of grass has been so poor cattle have well nigh disappeared entirely. In southwestern Texas, for example, where there used to be tremendous herds, there are practically none to-day. There has been a great improvement in grass this year in Texas and other Western States, but the cattle are not there to take advantage of it. That is one reason that influenced the department in its decision to raise the embargo on cattle from Mexico. Mexican cattle have been looked upon with disfavor for the reason that Texas fever is known to exist on the other side of the border and a quarantine has been kept up in the summer. The action of the packers in raising the price of beef to such an extent resulted in the department raising the embargo. The department has increased its force of inspectors, and all incoming cattle will be rigidly examined. Furthermore, the Mexican cattle seem to be in an unusually good condition this year."

INTEREST COUNTS.

An Incident Which Illustrates the Fact.

In 1861 Martha Taylor deposited $700 in the Hibernia Savings and Loan Society of San Francisco. She disappeared and the money lay in the bank drawing interest. Recently a woman calling herself Mrs. Martha Thompson called at the Hibernia Bank and asked about the money she had deposited in the bank as Martha Taylor. The bank officials were uncertain as to her identity and refused payment. She brought suit, proved that she had been to Ireland to see her sister and while there married Mr. Thompson. The bank did not dispute the facts, her identity was established and the court rendered judgment in her favor for $11,271.20 principal and interest. This gives an idea of how interest counts up. For the $700 which the woman deposited in 1861, she now gets over $11,000.

In the case of E. Lachman vs. Constable McInnes defendant's demurrer was overruled, and he was given three days to answer.

Interesting scrapbook left by the celebrated minstrel George Christy, a friend of Edwin Forrest and a talented comedian. Negro Minstrelsy in Great Britain.

Mrs. Edwin Forrest Fair, a daughter of the famous George Christy, who established negro minstrelsy in New York in 1847, started with me the other day very entertainingly regarding her father's career. She gave me his old scrapbook to refer to and several excellent photographs and some old fashioned engravings.

It seems so long since the days of the Christy minstrels that I rather expected to see an older looking woman than George Christy's daughter appears to be. She is an enthusiast over her father's memory. She has another sister living and also a brother, George Harrington, who, instead of perpetuating the family trademark, has been known chiefly through his "boastful dinners" at the old Morgue club.

"My father, known in private life as George N. Harrington, was a young man when he died," said Mrs. Fair. "He was only 40. He had a fine constitution, it was thought, but he wore his heart on his sleeve and put a year into every day. Being jovial, hearty and generous with every one, even his most humble employees, he was persistently sought by well known persons, and his nature could not resist the compliment he felt their companionship to be."

"One of his very particular friends was Edwin Forrest. A few days before I was born my father declared he would name his child for him. 'What if it's a girl?' asked my mother. 'Then we'll call her Edwinna,' replied my father. So you see I was named beforehand. Another friend of his, my brother tells me, was Theodora Thomas, who used to black up and do 'nigger business.' 'And why not? Didn't Edwin Booth try it? It was a pity that my father did not live to make a great name as an actor in white, for he was considered a remarkable low comedian. In burlesque he used to sustain from one to half a dozen characters in a piece and exhibit wonderful versatility. He made a great hit with his Topsy in a burlesque on 'Uncle Tom's Cabin.' He had a singularly sweet singing voice, and as a dancer he had few equals. He was also a contortionist and seemed blessed with every physical possibility."

"I was 18 years old when I last saw him, and that's a most impressionable age for a girl. I think Billy Birch copied a few of his characteristics, and George Thatcher has given some good imitations of him, but they and such other men as Schoolcraft and Sweatnam are different in general style."

Although I think it is generally understood that the Christy minstrels were the originators of that sort of entertainment, individual negro delineation was done as far back as 1799, at the Federal Street theater, in Boston.

The first idea of minstrelsy in its present shape, or before Mr. Haverly introduced his "Mastodons," came forth in the spring of 1841, for one night only, at the Chatham theater. The company was called the "Virginia minstrelsy" and was made up by Dan Emmet, Frank Brower, Billy Whitlock and Dick Pelham. The entertainment met with astonishing success. It was repeated subsequently at the Bowery amphitheater and at the Park. Fearing quick opposition here, the company, with C. B. Woodbridge at its head, went to England.

In London it performed for six weeks at the Adelphi in connection with Professor Anderson, then known as "the wizard of the north." A misunderstanding arising, a second company was organized by Pelham and Whitlock in connection with Joe Sweeney, and it traveled through Ireland and Scotland with success.

Another company, called the "Ring and Parker minstrels from Boston," now came along, and while in Liverpool one of the members introduced the character Lucy Long, which became immediately popular. Simultaneously minstrel companies were being organized in nearly all the American cities, and on the return home of these two organizations they not only found plenty of rivalry, but much improvement on their plan.

Now followed in notable favor the "Kentucky minstrels," the "Congo minstrelsy" and "Buckley's serenade." Then was organized the famous Christy's, consisting of E. P. Christy, George N. Christy, L. Durand and T. Vaughn. George, who afterward became the leader and was the jocular spirit of the show, had previously appeared at the old Eagle Street theater, in Buffalo, in 1839, and in 1842 the company started on its existence in the same city in a hall on Water street. George Christy was "bones" and Lausung Durand was "tambo." It is asserted that George was the original Lucy Long, the first to do the "wunch business." He also made a hit as Cuckoo.

The first appearance of the company in New York was at the Palma Opera House, in Chambers street. After various visits to other localities it finally settled at 473 Broadway, in 1847, where it remained 11 years. George finally withdrew from the care of his foster father, E. P. Christy, and with Harry Wool opened another hall at 444 Broadway, and a year later the original party went to California, and George became master of the situation.

After several years of great success Messrs. Wood and Christy opened the Fifth Avenue Opera House, in Twenty-fourth street. Christy's last appearance on the stage was with Hoodley's minstrels, in Brooklyn, on May 2, 1867. He died on May 12 at his home and was buried from Trinity chapel three days later. His body is in Cypress Hills cemetery. —New York Herald.
